FRONTIER COMMUNICATIONS WARNS CUSTOMERS OF INCREASED PHONE SCAMS IN MOSCOW, IDAHO

Remember to Verify the Source Before You Give Anyone Your Personal Information

MOSCOW, IDAHO, June 18, 2014 - Frontier Communications Corporation (NASDAQ: FTR) is warning customers and others of an increase in phone scam attempts. In Moscow, Idaho, some Frontier customers report being contacted by scammers claiming to be employees of Century Link offering savings, asking for personal account information.

Scammers are calling Frontier customers in Moscow, Idaho and falsely claiming to be able to offer savings on their phone and internet bill in exchange for personal account information. Customers should be extremely wary of any phone request for personal information, whether the caller claims to represent a communications company, bank, or state or local agency. If there is any chance the caller is not legitimate, do not provide any personal information. Instead, ask for a contact number that you can verify and ask to call them back. As a matter of company policy, no Frontier representative will ever ask you to disclose your password via phone or email. The safety and security of customer information is a priority for Frontier.

Other tips:

- Do not call back numbers left by solicitors. Never respond to messages asking you to call someone in an area code you normally don't call. If you make the call, you may unwittingly dial into an expensive overseas pay-per-call service. The result can be large charges on your next phone bill.
- Report suspicious calls to the Attorney General of your state.
- Register your telephone number on the National Do-Not-Call Registry at 1-888-382-1222.

If you believe you are the victim of this or other scams, contact your local Sheriff's Departments in Latah (208) 883-2265, Whitcom (509-332-3521) and Clearwater (208-476-4521) Counties.
